Tennis Team Captures Conference Championship

• THE COLONIAL TENNIS Team, led by captain and top seeded Harvey Harrison brought the Southern Conference title back to this University after losing the title last year in the final rounds. The University team has won the conference title eight out of the last nine years.

The victory was not an easy one for the Colonials, in fact, going into the final doubles match of the tournament the Colonials and the Citadel were tied, 29 points each. This set the stage for the climactic match between Steve Kahn and Mark Sherry of the Colonials and Roy Carlyle and Ray Morgan of the Citadel.

Earlier in the week, before the tournament began, when the seedings were announced GW had only two of its six players top seeded, three seeded second and one seeded third. After last Saturday workouts, Harvey Harrison, the top seeded player in the Conference, confessed that he was nervous about the upcoming championships. He expressed much enthusiasm and optimism in his hopes for the University team to regain the title this year.

Council Has Last Meeting

• SHOULD THE DIRECTOR of the Cultural Foundation be elected by popular vote along with rest of the student officers? Student Council last week thought not, after debating the question for almost an hour. It defeated a motion to make the director a non-voting member of the Activities Council to be elected by the student body at the Student Council elections. The motion has been tabled since April 5.

Steve Baer moved that the Activities Council be autonomous and able to select and ratify members of the Book Exchange and Career Conference. Currently, the Activities Council selects these workers but the selections must be approved by the Student Council. The motion was passed, re-

Cherry Tree . . .

• THE CHERRY TREE will be distributed beginning today, May 14, in Room 108 of the Student Union Annex. Hours of distribution will be posted on the door.

feated. This meant that the Citadel could lose one of its matches and still win the Southern Conference title.

Harvey Harrison started the victory ball rolling as he defeated Stuart Levi, 6-4, 7-5. Steve Kahn lost a very tight match to Roy Carlyle, 7-5, 4-6, 6-2. From this point it went all even. The Colonials would win a match, then the Citadel would come back and win one. The title went right down to the last doubles match before the championship was securely in the University's hands. In the title-winning match Kahn and Sherry easily downed Carlyle and Morgan of the Citadel, 6-2, 6-3, to win for George Washington its first conference championship of 1963.

Recreation Activities Planned For Summer

• UNIVERSITY SUMMER SCHOOL students can look forward to a summer of recreational activities adjusted to their needs and schedules.

As in the previous summer, the Office of Physical Education for Men has planned the recreation program and will serve as a center for information concerning metropolitan area recreational opportunities and planning. Henry Busky will again serve as director.

Included in the program will be several activities for the whole family. The Department of Physical Education for Men will make reservations for any groups or individuals who make the request.

Athletic equipment for golf, tennis, badminton, volleyball, softball, horseshoes will be on loan for 12 or 13-hour periods. This equipment may be picked up at 2025 H St. Intra-mural and co-educational recreation programs will be organized if sufficient interest is demonstrated. The Men's Gym will be open at specific times and at any other times upon student request. The parking lot on the NW corner of 22nd and H Sts. will be available for volleyball, badminton, and other outdoor sports. A schedule of events in the metropolitan area will be posted in the lobby of the Student Union each week. Announcements of special events for foreign students, boat trips up the Potomac, and other programs will be made at a future date.

Dr. Krupa, of the Men's Physical Education Office emphasized the flexibility of the programs. Information on hiking, fishing, and camping is available at the office.

A special effort will be made to secure camping equipment to promote camping activities if enough interest is shown. Any suggestions must be directed to the Office of Physical Education for Men so that it may better determine and evaluate the needs of summer students.

The events scheduled so far include the following:

- June 21—Swimming party at Haines Point, 7-9 pm.
- June 26—golf and tennis outing.
- June 28—dance, Linsner Terrace.
- July 8, 22, 29—barge trip up C & O Canal with combo.
- July 17 & August 2—dance.
- July 12, 26 & August 9—swimming party.

Schaeffer Urges Union Changes

• "NO DINNERS SHOULD be served on the first floor of the Student Union," Steve Schaeffer, Chairman of the Student Union Board, said in a special interview Sunday, May 12.

Schaeffer's plan would require that the serving of all dinners be moved to the second floor. Under this arrangement the congestion on the first floor would be alleviated.

dent Council said that not only is there not enough sitting space on the first floor but there is also not room left for additional tables. At present, card playing in the Union is prohibited during lunch and dinner hours, 11:30 am to 1 pm and 4:30 pm to 7 pm.

Problems

Schaeffer's recommendation will be forwarded to Cleaves Cafeteria which holds the food service concession from the University and to the University Business Office. Schaeffer said that John Einbinder, Business Manager of the University had opposed the idea in the Board's meeting and said that the cost of serving dinners on the second floor would be prohibitive. At present the Union kitchen is on the rear of the first floor behind the hot food line and there are snack bars on both the first and second floors.

The report of the entire Union Board listed itemized student complaints about the quality and variety of food served in the Union and recommendations for renovation of the Union annex. Employment of students to serve food and bus tables, expansion of study hours for the fourth floor to remain open Monday to Saturday until 12 pm instead of 11 and on Sundays 1 to 10 pm, were also recommended.

The report also noted that "the managers of the Union seem to serve no functional purpose. All that the managers office seems to be is a meeting room for friends and the intercom system is often used for personal purposes."

Summer School . . .

• REGISTRATION FOR THE summer session will be held Monday, June 17, with classes beginning Tuesday, June 18.

As in the past, the session will last eight weeks ending August 9. Day and evening classes will be offered.

Summer catalogues and class schedules are available at the Registrar's Office and the Admission's Office.

Tuition increases announced earlier in the year do not become effective until September. Consequently, summer tuition costs will be identical with current rates.

ed and it would become strictly an area where students could congregate for snacks and socializing. "The second floor would serve only as a dining room," Schaeffer said.

The report of the Student Union Board comprised of Schaeffer, Larry Broadwell, Mike Wexler, Janet Weisblut, and Sue Sommers, which was submitted to the Stu-moving responsibility from the Student Council.

John Waller, council representative and next year's manager of WRGW, university radio station, presented a report to the Council indicating that the station will be unable to operate unless it is given emergency funds. Waller estimated that about $200 would put the station on its feet.

The station does not presently receive money from the University, but is given a budget by the Council. It operates from an office in Lisner Auditorium, where it transmits to some of the dormitories and to Quigley's Store. The programs can only be picked up in those areas. WRGW has not been able to apply for a regular radio station license because it lacks money. If it could apply for the license it would be able to transmit signals over the airwaves. Paul Schwab requested Waller to meet with Deans Kirkbride and Bissell about this.

Miss Dorothy Cain was appointed as secretary by Schwab since Lillian Capper, former secretary has withdrawn from the University.

The German club was given a provisional two months recognition, after George Chadwick, president of the club, submitted the constitution and a list of charter members.

Eric Rubin explained that reports from Colonial Cruise are still being audited. He also announced that a contract had been signed with the Lettermen for Fall concert.

Order Of Scarlet . . .

• THE ORDER OF Scarlet, honorary society for outstanding sophomore and junior men, has tapped the following members: Jeff Hoffman, Bill Benton, Louis Wagman, Allan Goldberg, Ronald Scheraga, Joel Rosenberg, Nicholas Bazan, J. Heinze, Alan Wise, Joel Cherry, Neal Simmons, Hugh Heels, Tom Tinley. The new Board of Officers for next year consists of: president, Steve Schaeffer; vice president, Steve Baer; secretary, Alan Wise; treasurer, Jim Rankin; sgt-at-arms, John Diesem.

The Order's Outstanding Sophomore and Outstanding Member awards were presented to Allan Goldberg and Martin Gersten, respectively.

The boys were chosen on the basis of the following: 2.5 overall Q.P.I.; 15 points for activities for sophomores, and 20 points for juniors; and of leadership qualities.

Engineers Honored At Awards Program

• SEVERAL ENGINEERS received awards at the Annual Awards Night in Tompkins Hall.

The first award, presented by Sigma Tau, to the freshman with the highest Q. P. I., went to Morton Taragin whose average was a 3.78. William Kolb, president of Sigma Tau, made the presentation.

Tau Beta Pi's Outstanding Sophomore Award, also based on highest Q. P. I., went to Carlos Alanso with a Q. P. I. of 3.73 and was awarded by Professor Raymond R. Fox, faculty advisor.

The Engineers Alumni Association, represented by Dulany DeButts, honored four seniors with the highest Q. P. I.'s in their specific fields. Recipients of the awards were Douglas Jones for Mechanical Engineering, Donald Miller for Electrical Engineering, Fred Hood for Civil Engineering, and Lee Kamnietzky for Bachelor of Science in Engineering.

Keys were presented by Meche-leiv's editor Douglas Jones for Clifford Stearns and Frank Kliech for their contributions to the magazine as first-year staff members.

Also receiving keys for first year Service were 9 members of the Engineers Council. Retiring president Harvey Flatt presented these to John Starke, Marty Murdock, Eliot Cohen, Marshal Levitan, Vytas Tarulis, Philip Walcott, Ashok Kalelkar, Richard Shearer, and Robert Alvarez.

Following the introduction of old and new members of Council, the new President, Richard Singer, was introduced.

The last award of the evening, the Deacon Ames Activities Award, was awarded by Theta Tau to Harvey Flatt. This award in honor of a former Engineering School professor and department head recognizes outstanding service to the Engineering School. Dean Nelson T. Grisamore made the presentation.

Rockefeller To Speak On Peace Corps Policy

• JOHN D. ROCKEFELLER IV will discuss the "Peace Corps and Diplomacy," Wednesday, May 15, 7:30 pm, in Woodhull C. The event is co-sponsored by the University Young Republicans and the People to People Program. It is open to the student body.

Mr. Rockefeller is Director of Philippine Affairs and a member of the President's National Advisory Board, for the Peace Corps. He has recently returned from a world tour on Corps business.

In an interview with YR Public Relations Committee Chairman Jon Gundersen, Mr. Rockefeller spoke of the importance of the Peace Corps in diplomacy. He noted that "The Peace Corps in the short space of two years has become one of the most important parts of our foreign policy." Mr. Rockefeller said that because of its highly selective nature, the Peace Corps is maintaining a high caliber operation. He hit hard at critics of the Peace Corps saying, "It's success is proven by the fact that the other countries are now establishing their own Peace Corps and over 44 countries have asked for volunteers. Our only problem is that the demand is larger than the supply."

The program is being jointly sponsored by YRs and People to People in a preliminary effort by certain campus organizations to provide better public service programs through joint sponsorship and pooling of club's memberships. An attempt is being made to avoid the numerous calendar conflicts which have occurred this year in planning next semester's programs.

Foreign Service Careers

• BENJAMIN C. HILLARD, foreign service officer, will be on campus to discuss careers in foreign service Wednesday, May 15, at 2 pm in Govt. 102.

The annual exam for foreign service candidates will be held Sept. 7, 1963. Candidates must be at least 21 and under 31 July 1. Twenty-year-olds will be eligible if they are college graduates or have completed their junior year. Candidates must also have been citizens for nine years.

Applications can be obtained from the Board of Examiners for the Foreign Service, Department of State, Washington 25, D. C. Completed applications must be in by July 22.

Communication

• THE HORROR OF bombings, riots, and police brutality marred the hope for a relaxation of tensions in Birmingham, this weekend. Closer to home, the moving of Black Muslim headquarters to Washington, a volatile crime rate, and insipid civic action resulting from the absence of Home Rule in the District threaten the atmosphere in which the University community exists. More race riots like the one at D. C. Stadium last Thanksgiving may not be imminent, but a worsening of inter-community and inter-personal understanding is likely.

President Kennedy has suggested that visits between white and Negro homes might work to create greater understanding, and currently the Newman Foundations at the University of Maryland, D. C. Teachers College, and Howard University are encouraging such exchanges. This is a service area in which religious clubs at our University should take an active role, helping to widen student educational opportunity and a sense of civic and human responsibility.

Why stop here? George Washington has often been called "a distant school, with little warmth." The erroneous term "concrete campus" does not refer just to our physical facilities. There are few professors who take interest in their students outside the classroom; counselling is notoriously mediocre in spite of efforts to upgrade it.

An increasing number of students travel abroad each year, some to help further international understanding, but during the academic year how much inter-personal contact outside of academic work is there between students and faculty and administration (the loosely jointed components of "the University community") or for that matter within the student body itself?

How well are foreign students integrated into University social life? Must we segregate our athletes in Welling Hall where they fall victim to gross stereotyping? How many Christian students have attended a Seder at the home of a Jewish student? How many Jewish students have been invited to attend church services with their fellow students? How many fraternities encourage party-hopping between houses? Does the majority of our University community exist within isolated cells?

If we are only to learn through the vicarious experience offered by books, our education will be an extremely limited and sterile one. The University, its recognized organizations, individual students, members of the faculty and administration have a responsibility we are not living up to. All must work to improve the channels of communication at George Washington and those between the University and the community in which it exists.

Union Change

• WITH THE UNIVERSITY in a period of growth and transition, the overcrowding on the first floor of the Student Union during mealtimes will only get worse. In past years the Union Board has attempted to sidetrack students who come to the Union to chat and snack to the upper floors. The result has been a dismal failure, and students who eat dinners have had to put up with noise and overcrowded conditions on the first floor.

Unless a system of campus police to patrol the area is instituted, the first floor will remain a center point for student congregation. Physically, it serves this purpose and psychologically students care to use it for little else. The best solution would seem to be Student Union Board Chairman Steve Schaeffer's proposal to move dining facilities to the second floor.

Although the University Business Office is reported to be against this alternative as being too costly, it would seem that a dumb-waiter arrangement to bring food from the first floor kitchen, a heated food line, and a more formal dining area on the second floor would not be prohibitively expensive. This would provide for the increased usage the Union will get as the student body grows.

Year's News In Review

• A SURVEY OF the past year at the University as manifested in the pages of the Hatchet reveals two major trends: controversial Student Council attempts to resolve both organizational and fundamental problems, and an expanding spectrum of cultural presentations.

There were several notable innovations in student government. February elections were approved by the student body in the referendum of November 7 and 8 last fall, as was the proposal to establish a Planning Commission as a fact-finding, report-compiling arm of student government.

February elections took place following the intercession break and "produced the fewest number of contested officers, seven, and the second smallest voter turnout, 1103, in the past five years."

The Planning Commission swung into action, first under Jeff Hoffman and now under Jill Warren. One of the investigations in process concerns methods of raising student interest in elections. Leah Figelman is looking into "ways of making the election forum meaningful . . . and any methods that could be designed to insure issues in the campaign."

The Faculty-Student Liaison

Committee on Academic Affairs, established March 6, by the Student Council, is another structural addition. It is designed to facilitate the exchange of ideas and opinions concerning curriculum. The student members of the committee have proposed a faculty-rating system. The Student Peace Union's struggles to gain recognition pointed up a major fallacy in the 12 official Rules of Recognition. This sparked the Rule 11 controversy.

Both issues were ultimately resolved—SPA became official with one-year provisional recognition on February 13; on December 14 the Student Life Committee passed an amended version of Rule 11, diluting and qualifying the prohibition regarding national affiliation.

The original rule forbade national affiliation with any group to any campus organization other than social sororities, fraternities, scholastic honor societies, religious or professional clubs. As amended, it held that "Exceptions to this prohibition may be made by the Student Life Committee when it is deemed to be for the best interests of the students and of the University."

Perhaps the most fiery conflict of the year was the Council attempt to remove the editors of the Hatchet, accusing them of misrepresenting the views and actions of the Council, faulty news coverage and other journalistic indiscretions. A tense meeting between the Council and the editors, characterized chiefly by accusation and refutation was culminated by the closed-session approval of a resolution which stated, in part, "Whereas, the Council is aware that prime supervisory responsibility for the content and tone of the Hatchet rests with the faculty advisor . . ." the Council . . . withdraws its request that the Editors be removed at this time, thus expressing its confidence in the faculty and its hope that the Editors will meet their responsibility in the future and correct past errors."

A controversy that didn't make the Washington papers but was just as lustily battled on campus was the fight over the Activities Fee. The proposal that all full-time undergraduate students pay a compulsory $10 per semester fee to finance student activities went down in a referendum in the February voting. The referendum had been requested in a petition of 300 signatures sponsored by the Engineering School and presented to the Student Council.

The cooperation between the Institute of Contemporary Arts and the University produced several cultural programs. The chief results of the collaboration were that such lecturers as D. W. Brogan and poet Robert Graves came to the campus, and that students had the opportunity to view the joint performance of a new Hindemith opera and a premier ballet performed by the Jose Limon company.

Letters To The Editor

A.A.U.P. . . .

To the Editor:

• THE REPORT IN the HATCHET regarding the Reichard case is misleading in important respects.

The AAUP Committee on Academic Freedom and Tenure did not simply question the procedure used by the University in dismissing Professor Reichard. The Committee concluded: "... the University did not have adequate grounds for rejecting Dr. Reichard's claim of conscience for his non-disclosure . . . The committee regrets that University authorities did not follow the natural and reasonable course of attempting to find supporting evidence for their position, and that they relied instead merely upon speculations about motives . . ."

Moreover, it is inaccurate to state that since Professor Reichard had never taught here, there was no way to judge his objectivity except from his own expression of his beliefs. On the contrary, the AAUP Committee found that Professor Reichard had offered to submit a detailed syllabus he had prepared for a course at another institution to show how he taught the subjects of Karl Marx and Communism in the classroom. In addition, letters from former superiors, colleagues, and students at other institutions all supported the conclusion that Professor Reichard's teaching had been "entirely objective." Also available to the University was Dr. Reichard's manuscript on the history of European Socialism, which he offered to submit to a scholar in the field, at the Library of Congress, for an opinion as to whether the manuscript reflected a Communist point of view. The University did not avail itself of this opportunity.

In short, the AAUP Committee condemned the substance as well as the procedure of the University action. Significantly, the AAUP did not reject the Committee's conclusions. As you correctly report, the AAUP withheld censure of the University because Professor Reichard was paid damages, there is a new University administration, and there have been assurances of procedures that will preclude similar injustice in the future.

Finally, the naivete of some members of the University regarding the nature of the Communist conspiracy should be remarked. The fatal fallacy of inquisitions into political belief, such as conducted in the Reichard case, is the assumption that a Communist, bent upon subverting the University, will freely admit his identity and his nefarious scheme if a university committee simply asks him to tell the truth. Is it not obvious that it is the Communist who will blithely lie and proclaim his "Americanism," while those who believe in freedom of conscience and freedom of association will refuse to answer and suffer the penalty?

Welling Hall . . .

To the Editor:

• I THINK THAT the role of the athlete at the University was very aptly portrayed by the column, "Benton's Bull," in the April 20th issue of the HATCHET. I think that the athletes seem to be a distasteful minority in the University because they are placed in a single dormitory which houses only athletes. The student body recognizes the role of Welling Hall as the "cage" and tends to classify the residents accordingly. This is a great over-generalization because the men at Welling Hall are no different than the men at Calhoun or Adam's Hall; they are only more easily typecast than the other students.

I believe that the spirit and enthusiasm of the student body suffers because the athletes have not become an integral part of the whole but rather a cancerous growth on the body. The students do not have that vital link with the football or basketball team. That vital link makes an unconscious observer a spectator-participant. I think that the vital link could be forged if the athletes lived in the other men's dormitories along with the non-athletes. The athletes would not be typecast and they would form a union with the rest of the student body.

Highlights And Sidelights

On The Nation's Campuses

Notre Dame

• AN EDITORIAL IN the Notre Dame newspaper has had serious repercussions. The paper advocated a change in presidential administrations at the university. The reaction was immediate and violent. Now articles must be submitted to the advisor prior to publication. Editors were given the choice of agreeing or resigning. Then articles were changed without the editors' knowledge. Editors were forbidden to make recommendations for the following year, and to write any more editorials. All but three of the 55 staff members resigned. Said the paper's chief censor, "... the Scholastic by its nature is not intended to be an outlet for student evaluation of the wisdom of the administration."

West Virginia Wesleyan

THE WISDOM—AT West Virginia Wesleyan, the thunder on the right was silenced when a professor was fired for teaching from a "right wing position." The president of the school said that the professor, in the department of economics, was teaching "essentially as an evangelist for one position and does not really convey the fundamentals of economics. On the other hand, a former trustee of the university said the school is being run "by a little group of left wing collectivists, teaching socio-Marxist thinking ..."

Sam Houston

State Teachers College

WHAT TEACHING? THE American Association of University Professors has voted to censure Sam Houston State Teachers College for its dismissal of a sociology professor "without adequate cause." This is the second school in Texas which faces censure, and the University of Texas paper comments. "The word must be out that Texas is a hell of a place for a college professor to go if he intends to express his personal opinions in public."

Washington University

WHAT HAS 42 legs, a black head, and crawls around in circles? The answer, according to the Washington University paper, is "the student senate." The situation which drew attention to the senate was the inability of the group to raise a quorum at a crucial meeting last week. The paper says, "It would be senseless to seek the abolition of this organization which for all intents and purposes, is virtually non-existent."

University of Washington

I GO POGO. University of Washington students were unable to elect the eminent possum to the post of student body president, but they tried. Over 1000 people voted for him in preference to the only other candidate on the ballot. The other candidate won, but Paul Stanberry, president of the Pogo Party, called him "a symbol of dissatisfaction, a revolutionary force that proves the students are fed up with the existing student government."

Dade Junior College

CHEATING SCANDAL AGAIN. Dade Junior College has discovered that there's been a leak in exams, and midterm grades may be invalidated. Says the paper,

"Students should use some common sense. Let's say you lift a copy of a midterm exam for your friends. Four or five persons see it, and, consequently make fairly high grades. You have now probably been instrumental in raising the curve ... possibly your own grade is lowered. Unselfishness is one thing. Stupidity is another."

TILL WE MEET AGAIN

With today's installment I complete my ninth year of writing columns in your college newspaper for the makers of Marlboro Cigarettes. In view of the occasion, I hope I may be forgiven if I get a little misty.

These nine years have passed like nine minutes. In fact, I would not believe that so much time has gone by except that I have my wife nearby as a handy reference. When I started columnizing for Marlboro, she was a slip of a girl—supple as a reed and fair as the sunrise. Today she is gnarled, lumpy, and given to biting the postman. Still, I count myself lucky. Most of my friends who were married at the same time have wives who chase cars all day. I myself have never had this trouble and I attribute my good fortune to the fact that I have never struck my wife with my hand. I have always used a folded newspaper—even throughout the prolonged newspaper strike in New York. During this period I had the airmail edition of the Manchester Guardian flown in daily from England. I must confess, however, that it was not entirely satisfactory. The airmail edition of the Guardian is printed on paper so light and flimsy that it makes little or no impression when one slaps one's wife. Mine, in fact, thought it was some kind of game, and tore several pairs of my trousers.

But I digress. I was saying what a pleasure it has been to write this column for the last nine years for the makers of Marlboro Cigarettes—a fine group of men, as anyone who has sampled their wares would suspect. They are as mellow as the aged tobaccos they blend. They are as pure as the white cellulose filter they have devised. They are loyal, true, companionable, and constant, and I have never for an instant wavered in my belief that some day they will pay me for these last nine years.

But working for the makers of Marlboro has not been the greatest of my pleasures over the last nine years. The chief satisfaction has been writing for you—the college population of America. It is a rare and lucky columnist who can find an audience so full of intelligence and verve. I would like very much to show my appreciation by asking you all over to my house for tea and oatmeal cookies, but there is no telling how many of you my wife would bite.

For many of you this is the last year of college. This is especially true for seniors. To those I extend my heartfelt wishes that you will find the world outside a happy valley. To juniors I extend my heartfelt wishes that you will become seniors. To sophomores I extend my heartfelt wishes that you will become juniors. To freshmen I extend my heartfelt wishes that you will become sophomores. To those of you going on into graduate school I extend my heartfelt wishes that you will marry money.

To all of you let me say one thing: during the year I have been frivolous and funny during the past year—possibly less often than I have imagined—but the time has now come for some serious talk. Whatever your status, whatever your plans, I hope that success will attend your ventures.

Stay happy. Stay loose.

We, the makers of Marlboro Cigarettes, confess to more than a few nervous moments during the nine years we have sponsored this uninhibited and uncensored column. But in the main, we have had fun and so, we hope, have you. Let us add our good wishes to Old Max: stay happy; stay loose.

Speaking Out About . . .

Athletics At G.W. . . .

By Jim Leupold

THIS PAST WEEKEND the HATCHET had an informal discussion with some of the school's varsity athletes in Welling Hall. The "bull" was shot around in a discussion that covered almost all phases of intercollegiate athletics at the University. Three basketball players, Mike Checkan, Ed "Duke" Farrell, and Joe Adamitis participated. John Hill and Bob Lukomski were the football representatives.

The first topic discussed was the problem faced by an athlete at GW. Mike Checkan opened with the statement that sports are not over-emphasized. Unlike at many schools, here the varsity player has to work for his grades, and he does not get any privileges. Checkan also pointed out that the students have little respect for the athlete because GW is a metropolitan school. He also noted that Welling Hall is trying for a closer relationship with the student body by having exchanged with sororities and by holding openhouses.

John Hill was quick to point out that the minute a freshman comes into Welling he has one strike against him, especially with the girls in Madison Hall.

Scrappy Ed Farrell said that the athletes were trying to meet the student body half-way. He pointed out that the Welling men get along well with the majority of the people they know.

Mike pointed out that a lack of good facilities, especially a field house, hinders athletics here because the exceptional athletes will not want to come to GW.

Joe Adamitis felt that many of the athletes were different from the student body. A great many of them "live their life for athletics," and they are not going to change overnight. Big Joe pointed out that some groups can get away with things for which Welling gets criticized. He also said that Welling gets blamed for things for which it is not responsible.

"Duke" felt that Welling must try to spread good will. John said that some fraternities have helped in this respect, but that also many fraternities have given them a hard time. Mike added that it hurts when some fraternities close their doors to the boys, especially after they win a game.

The boys felt that the lack of spirit shown by the student body has hurt. Bob Lukomski felt that the only time school spirit reached a high level was for the Army game, and the West Virginia Basketball game. Mike added that you have to be a winner to draw, and he also noted that D. C. is a poor sports town. Farrell felt that a nationally ranked team in the area would raise enthusiasm and draw crowds.

The next topic of discussion was the emphasis that GW places on its sports. Adamitis felt that emphasis was definitely placed on the major sports, meaning football and basketball. "They are out to win," he said. However, he added that except for tennis there is not much emphasis on the minor sports because of the lack of facilities. Most of the minor sports are stocked with athletes involved in the major sports. Often the athlete will feel like participating in another sport in the off-season.

John chimed in by saying that you can't get good players without money, and the University doesn't make money on its major sports. Therefore, it is difficult to give scholarships for the minor sports, especially with the high cost of tuition at the University.

The past year in athletics was not evaluated. It was generally agreed that the basketball team was young and the football team lacked depth.

In discussing last year's football season, Bob pointed out the close ball games the Colonials lost. "We lost to West Virginia by four points in the last minute, to VPI by one point and to Richmond in the last few minutes. GW also lost by one point to William and Mary when the Colonials fumbled on the one-yard line. John felt that the only games that they actually lost were the VMI, Syracuse, and Army games. Bob said that the crucial period in the season was when the Mountaineer and Army games were scheduled on two successive weekends. Both John and Bob felt that a win in either of these games would have been a great help to the team. John pointed out that the Mountaineers had not been scored upon through the air for about twelve games and that GW scored three times that way against them.

Duke started out the conversation on basketball, stating that the team had no excuses. Big Joe added "what we lost, we lost ourselves." However, they pointed out that seven games were lost by a total of twelve points, and these games could have gone either way. Joe felt that last season was a "learning season" and he rated it as "fair to middlin'". He said that the two best games were the loss to West Virginia and the win over VPI.

John Hill

Joe came up with an interesting statement. "The farther South you go the tougher it is to beat a team on its home court. Duke indicated that many of the minor sports do well. He pointed out the recent tennis championship as an example. Mike added with a broad smile that "we had the best crew in the conference . . . the only crew." Joe felt that interest was growing in the minor sports and Duke felt that more students would participate with more facilities.

Recruiting was discussed in regard to next year's prospects. Bob said that this year's recruiting was the best he had ever seen. He also mentioned that two or three fine negroes have been signed, the first in the University's history. John added that they have signed almost everyone they had approached. Big Joe added that the basketball recruiting was coming along well, two or three players over 6'6" have been signed.

There was nothing but optimism for GW's future in athletics. Duke felt that the basketball team in two years "will be able to write its own ticket." Adamitis also said that next year's team looked good. The team is losing only one man, and a great deal of lettermen will return next year.

Bob pointed out that next year's football schedule will be easier than last year's. There will be only nine games next fall. John stated that the team may be a little inexperienced but Duke chimed in and said it would be "full of heart."

John pointed out that the students do not realize the time and effort put into any team. There are many long, hard practices and many meetings. The boys also pointed out that the coaching staff puts in a great deal of time and that excellent scouting reports are supplied.

Duke said that GW athletes are given excellent treatment as far as freedom goes in hours and roomchecks. In closing he wished to add that with "1963 looking as good as it is, we find that there will be more school spirit and spirit in the area, and WE WILL BE AS TOUGH AS NAILS."

Colonials Drop Three Games; Jolt VPI's Conference Hopes

by Mike Scrudato

ON THE DIAMOND the Colonials added another three losses and one win to their fair showing this season as the Southern Conference race draws to a close. The Colonials' one win, however, was over Virginia Tech, jolting that top running team's conference hopes.

On Monday, the University dropped a double header to Davidson 7-5 and 13-5 on the West Ellipse. Friday the Colonials bowed to the VMI Cadets 6-1 at Lexington. But on Saturday, they pulled the upset of the year, by handing first place VPI its first defeat of the season in Conference competition, 4-3 at Blacksburg.

IN MONDAY'S OPENER, pitcher Tony Romasco took it on the chin for the third time in succession. After Davidson tallied single runs in the first, third, fourth and fifth, the Colonials came back with four in the bottom of the sixth to even the count at four all.

Then in the top of the ninth with the score still tied, the roof fell in on Romasco as the Bearcats pushed across three decisive runs to up the score to 7-4. The Colonials managed to add one in the bottom half of the inning but the game ended 7-5 in favor of the visitors.

In the second game, Davidson blasted starter Joe Mullan out of the box in the first inning, as they scored nine runs before John Papanicolas pulled the game out a little until the third inning. In this inning the Davidson batters added to their output with four more. Steve Baer came on to the mound and steadied the team.

The Colonials scored one in the first and fourth and one more in the seventh, all on three hits, but it was to no avail. Everything went wrong for the University in the second game as the pitchers gave up nine hits and thirteen runs, the fielders committed six runs. The Colonial hitters were limited to three base hits.

ON FRIDAY, THE Cadets of VMI, who previously were beaten by the Colonials, got even and defeated the University squad, 6-1. Sophomore right handed Jim Maurer checked GW on five hits for the Southern Conference triumph.

For the Colonials, Steve Baer made his first start in a long time. He did not do too bad a job from the mound but his fine performance was hampered by the poor job of fielding by his teammates. Baer yielded three runs in the first inning on just one hit. He later gave up three more in the fifth, while the best the Colonials could do was tally a lone run in the fourth inning.

THE LOWLY COLONIALS, who had lost six straight games, came up with two runs in the ninth inning to deal a smashing blow to Virginia Tech's hopes for the Southern Conference baseball championship by winning 4-3.

The defeat was the first for the Gobblers in ten conference contests and dropped the league leaders into second place behind the Mountaineers of West Virginia, who have an 11-1 record. VPI has only one conference contest remaining while West Virginia has two.

Tony Romasco got back on the right track as he went the distance to post his and the team's fourth victory of the season. He received plenty of assistance from battery mate, Bill Brzezinski. The Colonial catcher drove in three of the four runs. He knocked in the first run with a long triple in the first and knotted the score at 2-2 with a run producing double in the sixth. But the big blow came in the ninth, with the Colonials trailing 3-2. Brzezinski again tied the score with a homerun.

The game's winning blow was struck by Neil Hausig, who singled home Mark Clark with two down in the ninth.

The Colonials remaining two games are against William and Mary this week. These games should not affect the Colonials standing as there is no hope for a top finish. One extremely bright spot is the fact that there is only one graduating senior on "the squad."

In the hitting department, infielder Bob Smith and catcher-outfielder Paul Lewis, with their strong consistent hitting, carried the impotent batsmen throughout the season. Smith hit around the .400 mark all season while Lewis hit near the .300 mark. They had 13 and 9 RBI's respectively. The team had an overall average of nearly .200 and averaged eight strikeouts per game.

Tony Romasco and some fine performances by Joe Mullan and Steve Baer were the highlights of the pitching staff. Although Romasco had his off day, which for the most part can be attributed to overwork, he has recorded all the Colonial victories to date. The staff as a whole allowed nearly seven earned runs per game.

The fielders had their good and bad days this season. Their performances on some occasions left much to be desired, as about 80% of the opponents runs were unearned.

The year's experience should do this young team a lot of good. For these same players are going to get the call again next year as there was no freshman team.

Golf Team Places Third At Conference Tournament

THE HARD LUCK that the University Golf team experienced during the entire season, seemed to disappear last weekend as the Colonials suddenly came alive and almost walked off with the honors at the Southern Conference Crown at Myrtle Beach, South Carolina.

The Colonials, who had won only one match during the regular season moved into the first day lead. This upset first round victory was led by the fine playing of Bob Murphy and Bob Haney. Seth Rosen and Steve Rubin, both very fine golfers (each have a two handicap) did not come up to their potential this year. But when the chips were down both came through fighting.

Steve Rubin, a chunky little golfer at only 5'6", was the player of the day even though his 80-87 doesn't show it. Rubin's first round 80 would have easily been much lower except for a triple bogie eight on the world famous double water eight hole after he lost the ball.

At the beginning of the final round at the Dunes Golf and Country Club the chunky senior from New York City showed what he was made of. The night before the tournament the team went to a driving range to get some last minute practice. During this exercise Rubin somehow pulled a muscle in his left shoulder and could hardly move his arm, let alone swing a golf club.

He loaded himself with aspirin and shot, considering the circumstances, an amazing score of 87. It of course was not low enough to keep the team in first place but it was low enough to land the Colonials in the third place spot. This is the highest the University has finished in recent years. Bob Murphy shot a 72-79 and finished in the runnerup slot for the individual medal honors.
